Filmdom Oscars Go Out Tonight

BY JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Tonight's the night the movies and television get married, with the rites taking place at the 25th annual ceremony of Academy Awards.

For the first time, a television audience estimated at NBC at 40 million persons will watch the movie industry's biggest show. It will mark the TV debut for scores of the biggest names in moviedom.

Studios have given blanket clearance for their stars to be seen on television—almost a naughtiness word, in movie circles not too long ago.

Fourteen TV cameras—the same number used for the national political conventions—will greet the emerited and minked movie queens.

Six cameras will be in New York to catch Shirley Booth, a favorite, or any one else who wins. Fredric March, a two-time winner himself, will present the New York Oscars. Jose Ferrer, nominated for "Moulin Rouge," will be in the New York show.

Bette Davis, recuperating from jaw surgery in a New York hospital, will give a 30-second radio acceptance speech if she gets the nod for her performance in "The Star," which would make her the only three-time winner.

Of the top 10 actresses and actors up for the big plums, only Joan Crawford ("Sudden Fear") will be at the Hollywood shindig.

Woman Jewel Thief Swallows Wristwatch

SEAFORD, Del. (AP)—Police called to the Oldfield jewelry store yesterday found a 40-year-old woman detained by employees who said a wrist watch was missing.

The woman submitted to a search, then admitted she had swallowed the small watch valued at $100, police said.

She was returned to the Delaware State Hospital where she had been admitted by a physician recently.

X-rays disclosed not only the watch but a finger ring in the woman's stomach.

Eisenhower Advisors Split On Military Spending Cuts

Eisenhower And Democrats Are Getting Along

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower says scoffers and prophets of doom were "completely wrong" in predicting he could not get along with Republican congressional leaders.

Since his inauguration, he told the Business Advisory Council of the Department of Commerce yesterday, there has been a noticeable "day-to-day increase" in co-operation between Congress and the White House.

Gets Friendly Letter

The President did not mention such incidents as the shelving in the Senate of his resolution to condemn Russia for enslaving other peoples through perversion of big power wartime agreements.

The President arranged a news conference today giving newsmen a chance to ask him to identify the letter writer and White House caller he mentioned as providing evidence of intra-party friendliness.

He said he had a letter only Tuesday evening bearing on this, and that an unnamed leader at the Capitol, presumably Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio), came to see him yesterday morning "because he said he had heard something he was proposing was causing me some embarrassment."

Bricker is pressing a proposal he says is designed to protect the people's rights under the Constitution against what he calls a threat of abridgement through executive agreements with foreign nations. The President, who has not expressed a public opinion on the proposal, said his caller wanted to see "whether he couldn't work this thing out."

Predictions Wrong

"Now that is, to me, quite an occurrence," Eisenhower said.

The President said when Democratic friends came to him in the past to try to interest him in a presidential nomination they argued there was "no possibility of the executive working with a number of personalities on the Hill, particularly anyone who held the beliefs I do—which I think can be fairly classed as middle of the road."

He said he had very cogent reasons that outweighed these arguments. He added he believed he had to be a Republican for very definite reasons of his own.

"Nevertheless," he added, "I

Maine Parents Have Baby Daughter No. 13

By ROBERT D. CLARK
PITTSFIELD, Me. (AP)—Lloyd Brooks looked at his newborn 13th daughter today and decided that "if we're ever going to have a son, guess we'll have to adopt one."

But Brooks said he was nonetheless pleased with the arrival last night of 8-pound, 2-ounce Lorene Avis.

Dad and Mother Brooks expressed gratitude for gifts they have been receiving to help ease out their family livelihood. Brooks hasn't had work in recent days.

"I knew it would be another girl."

Both the baby and Mrs. Brooks were reported doing well. The mother, who is 37, tips the scales at 100 pounds.

The other 12 Brooks girls rejoiced that the newborn is a sister and not a brother.

The oldest, 15-year-old Eunice, exclaimed: "If she had been a boy we'd have had to send her back. Boys are always fighting."

The new baby was scheduled to be born at home but at the last moment it was decided to transfer Mrs. Brooks to the hospital because Alma, 14, came down with the German measles.

Only Four Rooms

Dr. Frank E. Hascom, who delivered the baby, said Mrs. Brooks may be permitted to return home next Sunday. The baby, however, will be kept at the hospital until Alma's measles clear up.

The Brooks live in a converted schoolhouse of four rooms—three rooms and a bath downstairs and an unfinished room upstairs.

Mrs. Brooks' father, 78-year-old Benjamin Webb, lives with them.

In addition the family keeps two dogs, two cats and a guinea pig. The Brooks were married in 1937.

Besides the newborn, Eunice and Alma, the Brooks children are Elaine, 13, Ervina, 11, Rosalie, 9, Janice and Janet, 8-year-old twins; Donna, 7, Hazel, 5, Rae Jean, 4; Eleanor, 3, and Joyce Ella, 1½.

Public Schools Get $8,295,000 In April From Tax Diversion

LANSING (AP)—Cash-hungry public schools will get $8,295,000 in sales tax diversion money April 1. Auditor General John B. Martin Jr. said today.

He said the sum would represent school shares of January and February collection. Martin said, raises hope that the schools will get $12,000,000 for the first quarter of the year, or about $2,000,000 more than expected.

TODAY'S MESSAGE

The abiding motive and stimulus to prayer are found in fellowship with Christ. The man whose mind is set on low and immediate gain has little to pray about. He gets the things he wants easily enough. The Pharisees prayed to be seen of men, said Jesus; and they received their reward. They were seen. That was all they wanted and they got it. So the man who lives for food and drink and clothes, gets these things. He has his reward. He feels no especial need for prayer. If he tries to pray, he begins to use vain repetitions.

It is the man, on the other hand, who has caught the vision of the new social order for which Christ lived and died, and who is seeking to follow Him in devotion to the Kingdom of God, who finds himself moved to prayer. He is living for ends that lie beyond immediate attainment; he is undertaking tasks that are too big for him alone; no comes to barriers that look impassable, and meets disappointments that are heartbreaking. Such a man comes to God in prayer; it is the most natural thing for him to do. There is no strain about it, no searching for things to say. He has common interests

Wall Street Bankers Agree To Finance Straits Bridge

NEW YORK (AP)—Arrangements were made with Wall Street investment bankers here yesterday for financing the world's longest suspension bridge across Michigan's Straits of Mackinac.

Michigan Governor G. Mennen Williams, leading a delegation of state and bridge authority officials, described the project as "a great opportunity for Michigan and the country as a whole."

"Building this bridge," said Williams, "is empire building in the same sense as was the construction of the Erie Canal or the Union Pacific Railroad, because the bridge links the Atlantic seaboard with the Pacific Northwest, including Canada."

"The bridge is a popular project in Michigan," he added. "The people of Michigan want this bridge, and want it badly."

B. J. Van Ingen, Inc., of New York will head a nation-wide syndicate of about 160 underwriters which will handle an estimated $6 million dollars worth of tax-free revenue bonds. Sale of the bonds to the underwriters is scheduled for late this month. Construction is slated to get underway in early April.

Accompanying Williams were Michigan state treasurer D. Hale

Brake; Prentiss M. Brown, Authority chairman, and D. B. Steinman, designer of the bridge.

The bridge will stretch four miles across water between St. Ignace and Mackinaw City. Its 3,800-foot center span will be second only to that of the Golden Gate Bridge in San Francisco.

James G. Couffer, vice president of Van Ingen, said the bonds would be callable at any time, with an 8 per cent premium prior to 1963, 5 per cent to 1968, and progressively less until maturity in 1993. The bonds will be payable solely from bridge revenues.

Tolls proposed for the bridge would range from $2 for automobiles to $5 for semi-trailer trucks.

Buses would be charged $3 and motorcycles $1.

Investment bankers expect the bonds will bear an interest coupon of about 4 per cent.

Merritt-Chapman & Scott has already contracted for the bridge foundations at $24,525,600 and a $41,544,963 contract has been signed with the American Bridge Division of United States Steel Corp., for the superstructure. Construction is slated to begin as soon as the bonds are floated.

Final Decision On Economy Up To White House

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's advisers were reported sharply divided today on whether to increase or decrease the $4 billion dollar military program proposed by former President Truman.

A responsible official who asked not to be quoted by name told this reporter the matter has been discussed frequently at Cabinet meetings without any agreement among opposing factions.

Budget Comes First

This official said the issue probably will be checked to the National Security Council for the opinions of its members, but that in the end Eisenhower himself will have to make the decision which may affect the whole political and fiscal structure of his administration.

One segment of the Cabinet is reported insisting that military outlays must be reduced if Eisenhower is to carry out his goal of balancing the budget.

Eisenhower reiterated that goal just yesterday, in a speech in which he said the budget must be brought under control before taxes can be cut.

Taft Advocates Slash

Sen. Taft of Ohio, the Republican leader, is one of those who has taken the view that military spending must be cut to balance the budget. Taft says only 1½ or two billions can be cut out of civilian portions of the $7½ billion dollar Truman spending budget for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Any decision by Eisenhower to increase military outlays materially would reverse the Truman administration's stretch-out program, with resulting repercussions on industry.

It probably would unbalance the budget further and delay tax rolls.

Ferry Will Not Drop Menominee

CHICAGO (AP)—Rumors that carferry service between Frankfort and Menominee, Mich., is to be discontinued were spiked here yesterday by the Ann Arbor Railroad.

The assurance was given to about 20 chamber of commerce secretaries, civic and business leaders and shippers from Menominee and Iron Mountain, Mich., and Marinette, Wis.

They met with railroad officials to discuss reports that the line might discontinue the service through the Sturgeon Bay ship canal to Menominee, a port which also serves Marinette. The ferry service provides shippers a time-saving bypass of the congested terminal area at the south end of Lake Michigan.

"We have served your communities for 40 years and we expect to continue it," L. E. Claramon of St. Louis, vice president of the railroad, told the delegation. "We aim to keep on giving the type of service that will allow us both to grow, develop and prosper."

Second place and $800 went to Anthony Bronzo, 17, a senior at Flint Northern High School.

Nicholas Babladelis, 18, of Manistique High School, won third place and $500. He was a member of the Upper Peninsula championship team.

Two Senators Hold Up OK On Kremlin Envoy

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats generally applauded the Eisenhower administration today for standing firm on Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen's nomination to be ambassador to Russia, but two Republicans said they may fight it on the Senate floor.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee's 15-0 approval of Bohlen yesterday and Secretary of State Dulles' defense of the nominee were hailed by Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) as the start of a "true bi-partisan foreign policy."

Senators Humphrey (D-Minn.) and Mansfield (D-Mont.) said Dulles "met the test." Sparkman added: "It demonstrated the influence of the administration when it chooses to exercise it."

Approval Criticized
But Senators McCarthy (R-Wis.) and Bridges (R-N.H.) protested the committee's vote of approval on Bohlen. They said the committee should have insisted on seeing the report itself.

With admitted prospects for only a handful of opposition votes, McCarthy and Bridges talked about carrying their fight to the Senate floor next Monday.

McCarthy said President Eisenhower should read the FBI report on Bohlen, adding:

"It's difficult from a security standpoint to discuss some phases of the case, but we are forced to do it. If the President read the file, he would withdraw the name."

But Dulles told a closed session of the committee yesterday, Sparkman said, that he did read the file and there was not a single thing in it that would cast the "slightest suspicion on Bohlen."

Churchill Talks With Boss Tito

By HAL COOPER

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill called in his top defense and economic advisers today for more talks with President Marshal Tito, Communist boss of Yugoslavia.

It was generally believed that Britain and the anti-Moscow Red dictator were working out assurances—short of a formal treaty—of mutual support in the cold war with the Soviet Union.

The British Foreign Office has given few clues to the scope of the talks but it is known that the problem of Treiste looms large in the attempt to develop closer ties between Tito's Balkan nation and the Western Allies.

$3,000 Damage In Fire At Garth

Damage estimated at $3,000 resulted from a fire that destroyed the Garth cottage of Mrs. Martha Gagnon, 1607 Sheridan Road, last night. The fire started at 6:30, caused by an explosion of an oil heater, the sheriff's department reported.

Undersheriff C. A. Johnson and Trooper Francis Des Jardins of the Michigan State Police investigated the blaze.

Mrs. Gagnon, 63, had gone to her cottage intending to stay a couple of days, said Undersheriff Johnson. She had just finished supper and was about to lie down when the oil heater exploded. Mrs. Gagnon threw a rug on the blaze but was unable to control it and she fled the cottage, according to Johnson.

The sheriff's office reported nothing was saved. Mrs. Gagnon's personal belongings including two fur coats were lost.

Undersheriff Johnson drove Mrs. Gagnon to the home of her son, Jack McArtney, with whom she lives.

Kenneth Johnson, Mrs. Gagnon's Garth neighbor, reported the blaze to the sheriff's office.

Judge R. W. Nebel Guest Speaker At Grand Marais Event

GRAND MARAIS—What local residents ascribed to the largest public assembly in years greeted Judge Richard W. Nebel, Saturday evening at the auditorium of the Grand Marais high school. The occasion was a benefit for the High School uniform fund.

The highlight of the program was Judge Nebel's lecture, and colored movies of his European tour and attendance at the Olympic games at Helsinki, Finland.

The program opened with selections by the 35-piece high school band under the baton of Mrs. Nixon and Miss Rhea Ostrander, contralto soloist for the band sang an Irish melody.

Judge Nebel was introduced by Judge Arthur D. Wood former resident of Grand Marais, who gave a brief resume of the community and recalled that in 1894 it was the largest populated community in Alger County. Judge Nebel is a candidate for the office of circuit judge, eleventh judicial circuit, comprising Alger, Luce and Schoolcraft counties.

In his lecture, Judge Nebel spoke on the great injustice suffered by the people of Finland at the hands of the Russians, and the valiant manner in which the Finnish have maintained their status and economy among the nations of the world, under what he characterized as "intolerable obstacles."

Refreshments and dancing followed the program.

County Agents At Marquette Meeting

Three county agents are attending a monthly Michigan State College extension conference in Marquette today and tomorrow. Miss Ingrid Tervonen, home demonstration agent, Fred Bernhardt, 4-H agent, and J. L. Heitman, agricultural agent, are present at the conference where they will learn "what's new in their fields," Bernhardt said. The conference combines an in-service training program with planning for the future, according to Bernhardt.

Although the meeting usually is held in Marquette, Bernhardt said it will be in Escanaba next month as the agents participate in plans for the Upper Peninsula State Fair.

Students Hear Campaign Talks

The eight senior candidates of the Escanaba Senior High School, who are running for election to the city council, presented their platforms today to the student body in an assembly program.

Paul Menard, first candidate to speak, had three major issues in his platform; cleaning up the city, a community center for senior high school students, and an all-around efficient government. Two main points, the policy of council and the planning commission, were the subject of Barbara Jensen's talk. Barbara dealt with specific people who had specific problems with the council and planning commission.

The third candidate, John Jensen, appealed to the students about the conditions of the streets, and how he would improve them. Merton Arntzen, "Honest Mert," did not make any campaign promises. He just stated that he would devote all his time to the problems of the city. The parking meter problem was the topic of Dick St. Amant's speech. Dick pointed out the many advantages which could be gained if parking meters would be installed.

"Three P's," parking, planning, and power, were dealt with by Maxine Bernstein. Maxine based her speech on the fact that too many people do not realize how little power the planning commission actually has.

She said, "The planning commission has only the right to make suggestions to the council, who makes the final decision on the suggestions."

Tom Michael spoke on the issue of the city gas and steam plants. He also supported some of the other candidates' issues. The last speaker, Nancy Farrell wanted an extended recreational program. The uncompleted wading pool in North Escanaba was the main point Nancy stressed.

All of the candidate's speeches were sprinkled with humor. Joan Jensen acted as chairman of the program, and Miss Nina Ley was the advisor. The election for the city council members will be held Friday, March 20. After the council is elected, they will choose a mayor among themselves.

Nahma Man Guilty On Pair Of Charges

Edward W. Paul of Nahma pleaded guilty yesterday in the Gladstone justice court of A. T. Sohlberg to a pair of charges lodged against him by Gladstone, city police.

Paul, who failed to answer a ticket for reckless driving given him last July, was given a choice of 24 days in jail or a fine of $25 and court costs of $6.60. Unable to pay, he was taken to county jail.

Police also charged Paul with providing a 19-year-old boy intoxicating liquors. Justice Sohlberg put him on probation for one year, with a 30-day jail sentence held in abeyance during that period. Paul must keep out of taverns and avoid drinking for the year.

The operations will last from five to six weeks. This is the second season for the Griffin Fisheries, Irvin L. Sutherland, Nieman representatives, announced.

When the Lions club met at the community club Monday evening, it decided to have a basketball banquet April 20 at the Menominee Hotel to honor Coach Bruno Maule, varsity basketball players and five varsity cheerleaders.

Is Candidate

Carl E. Swanson, proprietor of the Menominee hotel, announced today he is a candidate on "slips" for the office of township clerk.

Charge John Parins With Drunk Driving

John Parins, 42, of Wells, today is at liberty under $100 bond for his appearance in Justice Henry Rangue's court on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants.

Escanaba police arrested Parins yesterday after Parins' truck collided with an Escanaba taxi at 3:20 p. m. at First Avenue North and 11th Street. No one was injured.

Police reported that Warren Stiemert, 317 First Ave. S., driver of the taxi, halted and blew his horn before Parins' truck crashed into the cab. Police said that Parins drove for 150 feet on the wrong side of the street before the collision.

Nominal Tax Boost Will Create Essential Educational Facilities

THE selection of Dr. Roy Johnson as chairman of a citizens committee in support of the public school bond issue for the April 6 election is an excellent choice for this important work.

Dr. Johnson has long been a solid supporter of the public schools. He is fully aware of the school needs and he firmly believes in the necessity for a school building program.

The first step in this program is the construction of a new elementary school to be located in the southwest section of the city. This proposal will be before the voters April 6, a request for a bond issue of $250,000 to be paid by an assessment on property not to exceed three mills for a period not to exceed 14 years.

In all probability the tax assessment will be less than three mills and it is certain that the assessment will be for a period much less than 14 years. The present indications are that the millage to be levied may not exceed 2 1/2 mills for a period of nine years.

It is interesting to note that the last public grade school constructed in Escanaba was the Webster, built in 1911, 42 years ago. The oldest is the Franklin, built in 1882—a venerable building of 71 years.

These schools were all built by the grandfathers—and great grandfathers of today's generation of students. It is time that a program of rebuilding school facilities gets under way. The proposal being submitted to the voters next month is the start of such a program.

Will it be a burdenstone expense? Hardly. The cost to most home owners in Escanaba for the new elementary school will be $5 to $10 a year for a period of eight or nine years. The last payment on the junior high school bonds will be made in 1958.

There is no doubt, for instance, that Mossadegh holds the all-time, high-salt-content crying championship. He has wept in more public places more often than the weepiest sobsister who ever won a breach of promise suit.

Now he has gone himself one better. He has addressed the Iranian parliament in his pajamas. Probably not since Roman times has a statesman stood before a legislative body in such loose-fitting robes. Once again, Mossadegh is unlikely to hear quick challenge.

He stands alone. But he'd better watch out for drafts.

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

The greatest thrill in my boyhood days was when the circus came to town. I don't recall that I ever had the chance to go out to the Fair Grounds to the circus itself, but it cost nothing to see the parade go along Main Street.

And the highlight of the parade to me was, not the unbelievable elephants nor incredible giraffes, nor the clowns, nor equestrians, nor gilded animal cages, but the piercing tones of the steam calliope bringing up the rear, the music of which could be heard all over town.

Nobody that I ever knew back in those days would have known what you were talking about if you called this noisy instrument a "kuh-LIGH-o-pe," though that was still the proper way to say it. We called it a "cally-ope," and, as far as I know, no one dreamed that this strident instrument had its name from the silver-toned goddess of poetry and song of ancient Greece, the ninth Muse, Calliope.

The instrument itself was named by its inventor, a Frenchman named Laxi, about whom nothing else is recorded. Actually, someone else had taken the first steps, about 1790, and had produced some sort of organ in which the sound was produced by steam released through the pipes. Laxi, about fifty years later, made some improvements upon the older machine, possibly making its pipes louder and shriller.

At least, a contemporary writer said that it could be "heard through the extent of the whole province."

Because of present association, the calliope still loud, but far less strident—puts me in mind of the carousel. Both, I understand, are now operated by electricity, the sound of the former evoked by compressed air. The latter, again, we pronounced quite wrongly, just as if it was the same word as the drunken revelry, carousel. Much later we learned that we should say (CAROO-SEL) (as in "carrot"), though by that time we were using the much easier term, "merry-go-round."

Why not take a tip from the horse races that are won by a nose—and keep your chin up?

No home is complete without a few highbrow books on display that nobody ever reads.

A doctor says women are outliving men. Maybe because the attention of women pedestrians is not distracted by looking at men.

The Doctor Says... Pesticides Used on Foodstuffs Are Possible Danger to Health

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.—Written for NEA Service

No one needs to be told that the food we eat is important to the maintenance of health. In recent years a whole new set of problems has arisen with regard to our daily diet.

Briefly, these may be considered to be the effects of artificial fertilizers on the foods raised in soil so treated, the effects of dusts or sprays aimed at animal or vegetable pests, fungi or weeds, and finally, the influence on the body of chemicals added to foods to preserve their freshness, softness, or other qualities.

It is not possible to consider all these things in a brief newspaper column, and it must be confessed that the answers to many questions raised on these subjects are not known.

STUDY OTHER CHEMICALS

Another enormous question relates to the addition of chemicals to various foodstuffs. Work on this subject is also going forward under the auspices of many agencies. In closing a report on this subject, for example, the Council on Foods and Nutrition said:

"Intentional chemical additives, especially those likely to find their way into basic foodstuffs or to find widespread application in a variety of foods, each of which may be infrequently eaten, must not be permitted until the complete harmlessness of these agents can be demonstrated beyond reasonable doubt. Furthermore, the use of additives which lead to a significant decrease in nutritive value should not be permitted."

It is recognized that when pesticides are poisonous to insects they are usually poisonous to man. They are less poisonous to human beings than to insects, of course, but pesticides carry possible dangers to those who come into direct contact with them. Every effort should be made to keep the amount which is eaten with the food down to the lowest possible level.

In closing an editorial discussion of this subject in the Journal of the American Medical Association it was said:

"Now physicians ask that foods be free from toxic residues of pesticides..." This is a subject that requires continued study and in which the efforts of all should be engaged in order to guard our foodstuffs from dangerous contamination.

Some people feel, for example, that the artificial fertilizers may have a serious effect on the health of the nation, through altering the food products grown under such circumstances.

There is, however, little definite evidence that the effect is either harmful or healthful, and until the scientists are able to obtain more information, there is not much we can do about it. Personally, I am not really alarmed.

With regard to the substances used to attack insects and other pests on food-bearing plants on animals, it has been recognized that hazards are created. Two of the scientific councils of the American Medical Association have been interested in this subject, as have other organizations.

It is recognized that when pesticides are

Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON—While Republicans in Kansas are stewing over the lobbying activities of the new chairman of the Republican National Committee, Wesley Roberts, Eisenhower Republicans in the Senate aren't too happy about some of the new GOP appointments OK'd by Roberts.

They're not being quite so vocal about it in Washington as in Kansas, where ex-Gov. Alf Landon is comparing Roberts to Bill Boyle, ex-chairman of the Democratic National Committee. Nevertheless, some comparisons are being made here too. Boyle, it's recalled, got a $1,250 fee in connection with an RFC loan to American Lithofide; while Roberts got an $11,000 commission in connection with the sale of a hospital to the state of Kansas which six Kansas ex-officials have testified belonged to the state anyway.

More important in the long run, however, are the appointments which a party chairman helps to make. Since the chairman of either the Republican or Democratic committee passes on most political appointments, his voice in shaping the destiny of the party—and the nation—can be all-important.

Most observers agree that the Eisenhower administration got off to a good start with its initial appointments. At that time, Attorney General Herbert Brownell did the screening. Of late, he has been busy in the Justice Department and Chairman Roberts has had greater choice and leeway. Here are some of the men he has either recommended or OK'd:

Jeff Robertson of Kansas to be chairman of the Federal Power Commission in which job he would pass on oil and gas rates, vitally important to northern consumers. Robertson was immediately opposed by two staunch Republicans, Senators Ferguson and Potter of Michigan, with the former denouncing Robertson for his connections with the oil and gas industry.

It has now developed that Wes Roberts, who backed Robertson's appointment, received a fee of $3,750 from an important gas and oil company, Cities Service, during eight weeks in 1951 when the Kansas legislature was in session. In this connection, Kansas Sen. William Weigand had charged that Roberts actually lobbied the bill through the legislature giving gas companies the right of eminent domain in seizing underground storage facilities.

In Kansas, Alf Landon calls Roberts a messenger boy for the gas and oil interests, while in Washington Roberts' critics point to the coincidence of Roberts' lobbying and his backing of Robertson for the key Federal Power Commission.

Ex-Congressman Albert Cole of Kansas—to be Housing Administrator, in which job he must pass on public housing. Cole is the darling of the real-estate lobby, opposed the housing-slub clearance bill when in Congress, but despite this was backed by Wes Roberts for the key housing post.

Some GOP senators griped at the appointment, and Sen. Irving Ives of New York, a strong Eisenhower Republican, said he was voting for Cole only on the assurance that Cole would fairly administer the public housing act regardless of his earlier opposition to it.

First thing Cole did when he was confirmed, however, was to telephone Akron, Ohio, and hold up construction of an important 300-unit housing project.

Craig Shaeffer, the Sheaffer Pen king—to be Assistant Secretary of Commerce. Shaeffer was OK'd by the Republican National Committee despite the fact that he was a backer of certain rabble-rousing interests with which President Eisenhower certainly doesn't associate himself.

Senator Tobey, when examining Sheaffer, asked him about sponsoring Upton Close, the radio-commentator who has attacked certain religious groups, and for contributing to rabble-rousing Mervin K. Hart. Sheaffer defended Close but alibied on contributions to Hart.

Congressional records show, however, that he contributed $1,300 to Hart, contributed $1,000 to Senator McCarthy, and was a member of the Western Tax Council which has been lobbying to limit the income-taxing powers of government to 25 per cent. When Senator Pastore of Rhode Island asked Sheaffer whether this would not drastically cut national revenue and lead to such things as a national sales tax, Sheaffer replied:

"No, I don't think it will lead to it (a sales tax). But if it does, the men in the lower brackets will have the opportunity to decide whether they want to buy something."

Harmar Denby as Chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board. Denby was appointed director of public safety for Pittsburgh in 1933 when that city experienced its worst siege of crime and racketeering. In this job he got so much criticism for appointing detectives and police favorable to the city machine that, after one year, angry voters kicked him out of office.

With this background, he will now handle one of the most difficult jobs in the nation—deciding which airlines shall operate the prize routes and how much subsidy they're entitled to.

Spandau Prison:

Seven Feeble Nazis Are Guarded At A Cost Of $1,000,000 A Year

ONLY THING WE SHARE WITH REDS in Berlin is guarding seven top Nazi war criminals in ancient Spandau Prison. Here American troops (right) go through formal change of guard with Russians.

BERLIN — Watch for another Berlin bust-up over the high price of holding the seven major Nazi war criminals, including Rudolph Hess, in their present jug.

No one wants to spring Hitler's Henchmen. But the Russians won't listen when we'll shortly again try to diet the Spandau budget.

But the West Berliners might fan a fury. After the Allied peace contracts are formalized, West Berlin, with our support, will insist on shifting to a regular prison or filling Spandau with ordinary thieves. The Russians will:

Now here is the wackiest chapter in "The Cold War Madness"—the Soviets refuse to change the Spandau contract which itemizes the guards and employees and forbids non-political prison mates.

Although their average age is 67 and most are too feeble to bust bubble gum, the prisoners are guarded by some 200 heavily armed men.

THE ROBINS FLY—Bulletin! Flash! The robins are around this community again, presaging the coming of spring—to turn a trite phrase.

I saw one of the homely little red-breasted things myself the other day. It was flying around among the bushes in Ludington Park acting just like a robin always acts in the spring rain. No glad song escaped its beak. It appeared bedraggled and somewhat disgusted with the weather.

But robins are an institution, like babies. Mother's Day and Old Glory. You can't blame folks for reporting an institution when they see one.

Mrs. J. H. Forsman of 620 South 14th St. saw a robin at 10:40 a.m. Wednesday, probably the same bird that I saw later in the day after the rain started.

Texas Gunhawk Leaves Korea

A U.S. JET AIRBASE, Korea (P)—The Texas Air Force colonel who has shot down more MiGs than any other flying gunhawk left for home today.

He is Col. Royal N. Baker of McKinney, described by the Fifth Air Force commander, Lt. Gen. Glenn O. Barcus, as "the greatest of them all."

Baker ended his MIG-dueling combat tour in Korea last Friday, the 13th, when he shot down his 12th MiG jet. It was the 13th Community warplane downed by Baker. Earlier, he had shot down a Red La9 propeller-driven craft. "The admiration, respect and esteem of the entire Fifth Air Force goes with Col. Baker," Barcus said at a dinner in the Texan's honor last night.

"In the past I have sent home many of our foremost fighting men, but now I am sending back the greatest of them all."

Barcus termed the 34-year-old Texan a "precisionist in his business."

"His methodical and relentless follow-through once he locks his Sabre onto a MiG was a masterpiece in blending of skill, training and personal courage."

There's no exact way to check that figure, but there's also about $23 billion in gold bullion and $2 billion in silver bullion supposed to be stashed around in various U. S. Mint installations.

That's the money Secretary Humphrey is spot-checking, and here you see one of those checks going on at the U. S. Assay office in New York.

Adenauer Battles For Twin Treaties To Align With West

BONN, Germany (P)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer battled today for lower house ratification of twin treaties to bring his almost-nation into armed alliance with the West. The 77-year-old government chief wants this step completed before he goes to the United States for a state visit April 6.

The treaties are the Allied-Bonn Peace Contract, giving West Germany near-sovereignty, and the six-nation European Defense Community pact, setting up a unified West European army. Germany

Straits Opened By Icebreaker

SAULT STE. MARIE (P)—The Coast Guard icebreaker Mackinaw worked today to clear ice in the Straits of Mackinac after reporting ice in the lower half of the St. Marys River had been pretty well broken up.

The big icebreaker had spent a day and a half earlier this week clearing a path through the lower river from some 20 miles southeast of the Soo to its mouth.

Overnight ice moved out of the Soo harbor to a point six miles below Sault Ste. Marie, leaving the harbor clear.

The thieves tried to crack the store's safe but failed, the sheriff's office stated. The robbery was discovered Wednesday morning.

Douglas Whitlock, an aide to McGarragh, gets No. 25, once held by Donald Dawson, former Truman administrative assistant.

Sick East Germany President Improved

BERLIN (P)—Unofficial German sources last night reported a slight improvement in the condition of Communist East Germany's President Wilhelm Pieck, said to be suffering from pneumonia and pleurisy.

The East zone press and radio have maintained a news blackout on the condition of the 77-year-old Red leader since he failed to appear 10 days ago with other Communist bigwigs at East Berlin memorial services for Joseph Stalin. Other informants, however, reported he was undergoing special treatment in an East Berlin hospital.

No Driver's License

SOUTHBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — South Dakota is the only state that requires no examination, issues no license and sets no legal standard for automobile drivers, according to the 1952 edition of a survey of state requirements for motor vehicles operators. All that is required is that the driver be at least 15.

The survey, published by the American Optical Co., says that all other states require licenses and have driver examinations. Age requirements for drivers range from 14 in Arkansas, Idaho, New Mexico, North Dakota, South Carolina and Texas to a high of 17 in New Jersey.

Strange Rents And Dues Paid To Britain's Queen

WASHINGTON—As her royal birth, Britain's young Queen Elizabeth II recently claimed from a fish market 40-pound sturgeon, one of the tastier tidbits due a sovereignty which accepts a multitude of odd tributes.

As the sturgeon is a royal fish, reserved for the Queen, so is the swan a royal bird, says the National Geographic Society. For centuries no one could own swans without royal permission.

No one, that is, except the Worshipful Company of Vintners and the Worshipful Company of Dyers who told Edward IV in the 15th century they would not lend him the money he sought unless he allowed them to own swans. Now every year there is a "Swan Upping," or swan roundup, on the River Thames to see which birds are the sovereign's and which belong to the Vintners and Dyers.

Unsavory Privileges

Less savory royal animals are whales, porpoises and dolphins that are washed ashore. Although not likely to be claimed at the palace, a dead porpoise caused a clash recently between a British beach inspector who wished to herring pie, the City of Yarmouth must supply the herrings. Should she visit the district of Kidwelly Castle, its lord must furnish a knight in full armor as a bodyguard. The laird of Braeside must bring to her Scottish Palace of Holyroodhouse a basin of rosewater to wash the Queen's hands. If she crosses the English Channel the owner of Archer's Court, Kent, must accompany her with a silver bowl in case she becomes seasick.

Falcons For Coronation

Probably the item that Queen will least need on the morning of her coronation is a pair of falcons, but the Duke of Atholl and the Earl of Surrey each can claim the right to give her two of the hunting birds at that time.

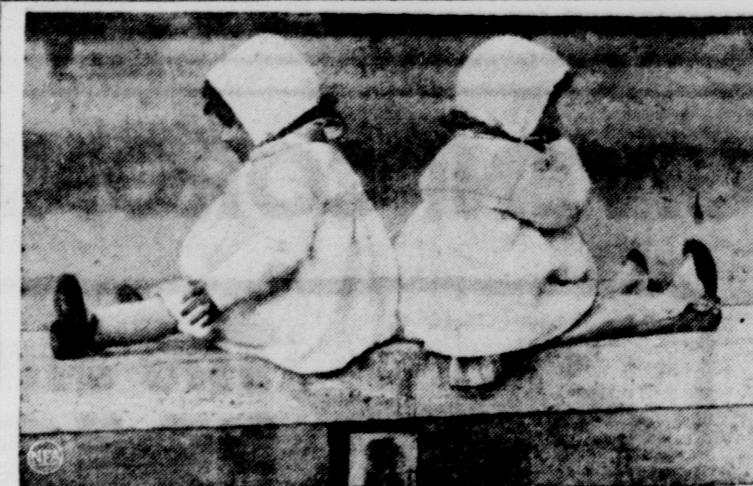

The Queen must give as well as receive. From her the Dean of Westminster can demand wine, fish and bread on her coronation day, and the boys of Westminster School have traditional right to Abbey seats for the ceremony. In fact, they are the first to cheer the sovereign after the crowning.

The Queen, must pay a golden horseshoe as toll upon passing through a certain rural village, and on Maundy Thursday she customarily distributes special minted money to as many needy persons as there are years in her age.

Congressional Quiz

By Congressional Quarterly

1. Q—I've seen stories in the newspapers about Congressional committees holding "executive sessions." What does this mean?

A—An executive session is a closed meeting. The public and press are not allowed to attend, usually because of the nature of facts that may be disclosed in the meeting. In some instances this might be military information which could not be made public because of a threat to national security.

2. Q—What has been the yield of the gambling tax law enacted by Congress in 1951 and recently upheld by the Supreme Court?

A—The yield from July 1, 1951, through Jan. 31, 1953, was $1,193,225.11 from the 150 tax stamps gamblers are required to buy and $10,443,531.05 from the 10 per cent excise tax on gambling, for a total of $11,636,756.16. These figures came from the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

3. Q—What is the "Buy American" Act?

A—Basically, it is a 1933 law requiring the government to buy from American producers and manufacturers when purchasing supplies and equipment for public use in the U.S., unless the cost is "unreasonable." The government usually "buys American" unless the domestic goods are more than 25 per cent higher than the delivered price of foreign goods. Rep. Frank E. Smith (D Miss.) has introduced a bill to repeal the Act.

5. Q—Can the Congressional representatives from Alaska and Hawaii cast any votes in Congress?

A—No. Representatives from territories, who are called Delegates, may serve on House Committees, engage in floor debate and make motions, except the motion to reconsider a previous action. But they may not vote. Present Delegates are Joseph R. Farrington (R Hawaii) and E. L. Bartlett (D Alaska). A. Fernos-Isern (Pop-Dem.) Resident Commissioner from the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, has the same status. If Hawaii wins statehood, she will have two Senators and one or two Representatives (depending on the final form of the bill) who will have full voting rights.

Less savory royal animals are whales, porpoises and dolphins that are washed ashore. Although not likely to be claimed at the palace, a dead porpoise caused a clash recently between a British beach inspector who wished to keep the premises clean and customs authorities who refused to let him meddle with Crown property.

Over the centuries British monarchs have demanded some bizarre rental fees. The Dukes of Marlborough and Wellington, for instance, retained their estates by delivering annually to the Queen flags symbolic of their ancestors' military victories. Her Scottish bodyguard, the Royal Company of Archers, presents a pair of barbed arrows for right of access to archery grounds.

A snowball delivered in summertime is rent for the Scottish estate of Fowlers, and mere blast on horn pays for the Forest of Savernake. As dues for the manors of Cabillia and Pengelly the Queen gets a grey cloak, while two white greyhounds are rent for the estate of Elterky. Other tributes include red and white roses, a salmon spear, an ivory cup, even a bed of straw. When she visits Winnipeg in Canada, Queen Elizabeth receives the traditional Hudson's Bay Company tribute of two elk heads and two black beaver skins.

herring pie, the City of Yarmouth must supply the herrings. Should she visit the district of Kidwelly Castle, its lord must furnish a knight in full armor as a bodyguard. The laird of Braeside must bring to her Scottish Palace of Holyroodhouse a basin of rosewater to wash the Queen's hands. Congressional Quiz

By Congressional Quarterly

1. Q—I've seen stories in the newspapers about Congressional committees holding "executive sessions." What does this mean?

A—An executive session is a closed meeting. The public and press are not allowed to attend, usually because of the nature of facts that may be disclosed in the meeting. In some instances this might be military information which could not be made public because of a threat to national security.

2. Q—What has been the yield of the gambling tax law enacted by Congress in 1951 and recently upheld by the Supreme Court?

A—The yield from July 1, 1951, through Jan. 31, 1953, was $1,193,225.11 from the 150 tax stamp gamblers are required to buy and $10,443,531.05 from the 10 per cent excise tax on gambling, for a total of $11,636,756.16. These figures came from the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

3. Q—What is the "Buy American" Act?

A—Basically, it is a 1933 law requiring the government to buy from American producers and manufacturers when purchasing supplies and equipment for public use in the U.S., unless the cost is "unreasonable." The government usually "buys American" unless the domestic goods are more than 25 per cent higher than the delivered price of foreign goods. Rep. Frank E. Smith (D Miss.) has introduced a bill to replace the Act.

5. Q—Can the Congressional representatives from Alaska and Hawaii cast any votes in Congress?

A—No. Representatives from territories, who are called Delegates, may serve on House Committees, engage in floor debate and make motions, except the motion to reconsider a previous action. But they may not vote. Present Delegates are Joseph R. Fannington (R Hawaii) and E. L. Bartlett (D Alaska). A. Ferns-Isern (Pop-Dem.) Resident Commissioner from the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, has the same status. If Hawaii wins statehood, she will have two Senators and one or two Representatives (depending on the final form of the bill) who will have full voting rights.

Bottom Is Tops On Saba Island

WASHINGTON—Saba is a tiny Dutch island in the Caribbean where the people speak English. Boats are built on mountaintops; there are at least two women for every man, and Bottom is topside.

Moreover, says the National Geographic Society, Saba is one of the few golden Caribbean isles which make no special play for tourists. There are scarcely a half dozen rooms for guests.

Saba is five square miles of volcanic rock midway between Puerto Rico and Guadeloupe. It is home to some 1,000 people. Of comparatively recent geological origin, Saba rises sheer from the sea, a single cone more than 2,850 feet high. Lashing at the base, a pounding surf seems to delight in the fact that Saba has no harbor.

Visitors Need Luck

To approach Saba from the schooner which calls weekly from St. Kitts, a visitor must trust in luck and the seamanship of the island boatmen. Skillfully maneuvering their surf boats to the crest of a wave, they dash between threatening rocks to a crash landing at Fort Bay, a beach about as big as a bedspread.

Jeeps, the only vehicles on the island, transport visitors upward on Saba's new concrete road built laboriously by hand. It winds up the mountain through a fissure in the reddish-brown volcanic rock.

At the top is Bottom. Bottom, with some 300 people, is the principal one of four villages and the seat of the island's government. It nestles in the basin of an extinct crater—the only reasonably level area on the island.

In the other villages, which cling precariously to steep mountainsides, the descendants of early English settlers build boats of cedar, cypress and spruce. When they are ready for launching, they are carried to the sea on men's shoulders, or lowered down the cliffs on ropes.

Vegetables Grown

Besides boatbuilding, the primary occupation is raising vegetables in the volcanic soil. Crops stay alive on Saba with the nightly aid of a heavy dew.

Women augment the family income by exporting to mail order customers bits of fine Spanish embroidery. Most of the young men go to sea or emigrate to the oil refining islands of Curacao and Aruba, also Dutch.

They contribute by mail to the support of their parents and sisters. But their absence results in a dearth of marriageable men.

That is why Saba women anxiously await the weekly schooner and the occasional steamer. The ship may bring a payment for their embroidery, a check from a brother overseas, or—who knows—an eligible bachelor.

More than 87 per cent of whole milk is water.

FLYING SHARK—Part bird, part fish, the "Flying Shark," a new type of boat, is thrilling visitors to Lake Maggiore, Italy. Forty-five feet long, with a capacity of 32 passengers, it is capable of speeds up to 50 miles an hour. At top speed long fin-like outriggers suddenly appear, lifting the boat above the water and giving passengers the sensation of actually flying.

Justices Can't Fine Over $100, Circuit Court Judge Rules

JACKSON (P)—Circuit Court Judge John Simpson ruled that no Justice of the Peace can impose a fine of over $100 for any offense.

The decision was handed down in the case of James R. Wolfe, a Fremont, O., trucker, who was convicted Feb. 27 of operating on US-27 while his truck was overweighted by 2,500 pounds. Mrs.

Edna Hall, Blackman township justice of the peace, fined Wolfe $2,050 and $5 costs and the Ohioan appealed.

Counsel for Wolfe contended the fine was excessive and that the justice of the peace lacked jurisdiction in the case.

Moslems Must Know Compass

WASHINGTON—Moslems, enjoined by their religion to direct their prayers toward Mecca, must master geography lest the prayers go astray.

Many of the faithful face east, as Europeans generally believe they all do. But others face west, a few look to the north and some turn their faces south. It depends upon where they live, says the National Geographic Society.

The worshipper has no problem of direction when he prays in an established mosque. There the beautifully decorated mihrab, or prayer niche, is always carefully and scientifically oriented.

Consult Ship Captains

Aboard ships at sea, the prayer leader often consults the captain. Alone, the Moslem depends upon his knowledge or ingenuity to discover the way in which Mecca lies. He does the best he can, then trusts that Allah the Merciful, the compassionate, will recognize the plea of a worshipful heart even if it has traveled a faulty route.

As the mapmaker knows, east does not always seem to be east, nor west, west. Directions taken from a sphere may differ from those obtained from a Mercator projection of the earth's surface.

Arabs long ago mastered spherical trigonometry, basis of accurate cartography, and gave it to a Christian world which somehow had forgotten the teachings of the ancient Greeks that the earth was round. Wellman Chamberlin of the National Geographic Society's cartographic staff, author of the Society's publication, "The Round Earth on Flat Paper," recently helped repay the debt.

Some Moslems, thinking in terms of a Mercator map, thought that the mihrab in the new mosque at Washington, D. C., was oriented too far north. "It looks as though it points toward Newfoundland, not Mecca," one said.

Newfoundland Is Correct

"Actually," said Mr. Chamberlin, consulted by the mosque architect, "Newfoundland isn't too far off. The Great Circle route, shorter than the Mercator, follows close to the North American shoreline—over Philadelphia, New York and Cape Breton Island to Newfoundland. It touches Cairo, as the Mercator line does."

After crossing the Atlantic fishing banks and iceberg lanes, the shortest trigonometrically correct prayer path to Mecca circles south to cut the coast of France near Bordeaux. It passes over the Pilgrim ports of Marseille and Alexandria.

Then it reaches Cairo's Al Azhar University and the wide maidan below the Citadel. From Cairo it follows down the Red Sea to Mecca.

ca, the spiritual heart of Islam. The longer Mercator route on the other hand, slips between Portugal's Madeira and Spain's Canary Islands, hits the South Moroccan coast near Agadir, hurdles the snowy Atlas Mountains and speeds across the hot Sahara.

Near Upper Egypt's southern boundary it crosses the Nile and the Red Sea. Reaching seaport Jidda's gingerbread balconies stuck like swallows' nests to earth walls, it then has fifty miles to unroll before reaching Islam's holiest place, Mecca's Kaaba.

General Retires

TOKYO (P)—Maj. Gen. David L. Ruffner of Charleston, W. Va., former commander of the 45th Division in Korea, sails Saturday for the U. S. and retirement after more than 35 years of service.

Roen To Defend Tug Boat Title

DETROIT (P)—Well, atomic bombs are tested, dictators pass on, and the world wonders.

Nonetheless, we'll have another tug boat race.

This year the fourth annual International Tug Boat Race on the Detroit River—in its brief three years it has earned the name of "classic"—will be held Memorial Day, tentatively.

It will be a joint, official Canadian and United States event. It will be staged in Canadian waters of the river.

The race committee decided this last night. The Windsor chamber of commerce will cooperate.

Capt. John Roen of Sturgeon Bay, Wis., is expected to defend his championship with his tug John Roen III. Capt. J. Earl McQueen of Amherstburg, Ont., whose tug Atomic won the first two races, will be race chairman.

Only Walrus Dies

NEW YORK (P)—Herbert, the only walrus in the United States, died yesterday while still a baby of 958 pounds.

Bronx Zoo officials said the 2-year-old walrus would have reached maximum weight of about 3,000 pounds in a few years.

Herbert's death was attributed to an intestinal obstruction caused by a rubber ball which he swallowed last week.

Men Battle Sea For Land

By FRED SAITO

OKAYAMA, Japan—The 200,000 people of Okama are engaged in a battle with the sea to reclaim 700 acres for land-hungry Japan.

The city, with some government help, is now tackling a project to close the mouth of a big bay with a one-mile-long causeway.

The industrious people of Okama during the past 300 years have expanded their territory into the sea inch by inch, year after year. The Kojima Bay, which Okama faces, has been beaten back from an original 15,299 acres to the present 2,700 acres.

The citizens are now preparing the coup de grace. The bay will be ended by the middle of 1953.

The "kill bay" program started in October 1950. The total cost will be about $4,000,000.

The Bay will not turn into arable land overnight. It will become a fresh water lake in two or three years, city officials said.

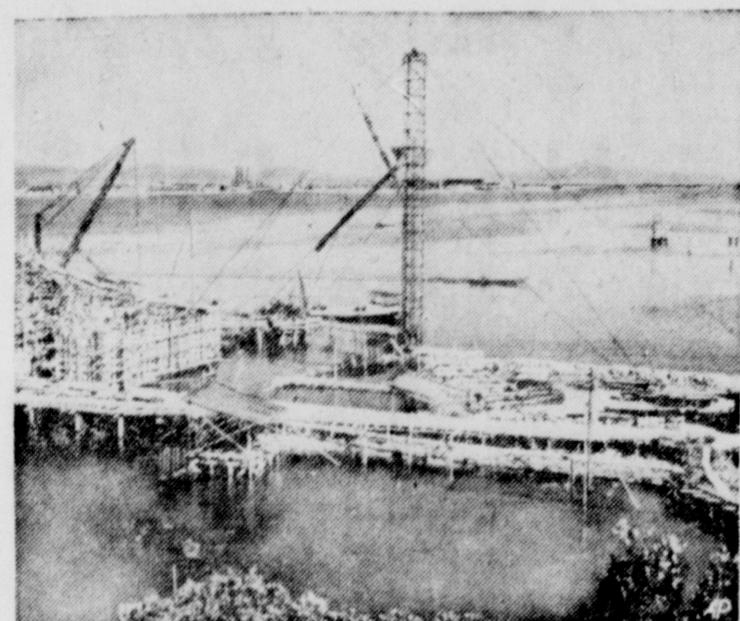

Then, watered by three rivers carrying thousands of tons of mud and sand from upstream, the lake will turn into land eventually. The bay is now very shallow, averaging five to six feet deep.

The immediate effect, Chief Engineer Shigeo Tokuno says, will be to make 12,500 acres of already reclaimed land free from salt water damage caused by occasional tidal flows. "The land will become fertile with more crops of rice assured," he said.

The causeway is being built by a so-called "pneumatic caisson" method. Heavy rocks are transported from the coast by barges to the causeway base and thrown in by hand. Gravel and sand are poured in by pipes powered by 1,000 horsepower motors.

Then caissons—big strong boxes filled with concrete—are sunk to a depth of about 20 yards. The bottom of each caisson is concave, allowing several men to work inside and consolidate the base.

Upon completion, the causeway will have 12 water gates by which the water level of the new lake will be maintained always about half a yard lower than outer ocean. Ships can go in and out of the lake through another bigger lock.

U. S. Helps Italians To Rebuild Leghorn

LEGHORN, Italy (P)—American money is helping this Italian Communist political stronghold recover from its war wounds and resume its role as one of Italy's bustiest and most modern harbors.

The biggest shot in the arm for this seaport, the U. S. 5th Army's main supply base during World War II, came in the summer of 1951 when it was chosen as a U. S. Army's supply base for troops in Austria. The base now provides jobs for 3,586 Italians.

Leghorn Communist port workers called several 24-hour strikes demanding a share of the work and money going to non-Communist stevedores but the strikes failed to affect unloading.

Old Soldier Buried

ROCHESTER, N. Y., (P)—James A. Hard, next to the last Blue-clad veteran of the Civil War, was buried yesterday with the battle field ritual of the Grand Army of the Republic.

A thousand persons marched in the funeral procession for the 111-year-old soldier, who died Thursday.

The last survivor of the Union Army is Albert Woolson, 106, of Duluth, Minn. Four Confederate veterans remain.

South Carolina Has Mill Boom

WASHINGTON—South Carolina, the "moonlight and magnolia" state which gave the plantation way of life to Dixie, again bids for leadership in the South.

"The moonlight is still bright and the magnolias bloom as fragrantly as ever," writes Herbert Ravenel Sass, famous native son of the Palmetto State, in the March issue of the National Geographic Magazine. "But something more tangible compels attention."

Most spectacular "something," he continues, is the Atomic Energy Commission's Savannah River plant, billion-dollar project now building on land where once were pine woods and cotton fields.

"Nothing ever before undertaken by man," says Mr. Sass, "holds so much of potential benefit or potential menace for the human race."

But even before the atomic age and the coming of "history's mightiest industrial enterprise" to their midst, the author contends, South Carolinians through their own initiative and enterprise had lifted themselves out of the post-Civil War depression that blighted the South.

No Civil War

Civil War? There was no such thing in South Carolina, nor was there a War Between the States. The proper name, according to Mr. Sass, is "Confederate War."

In any event, he goes on, South Carolina long ago freed itself from the one-crop dominance of King Cotton. Lush pastures and sprawling peach orchards, he says, along with humming textile mills, have usurped most of the old King's domains.

Despite the upsurge of other crops and industry, however, cotton remains South Carolina's

Woman's Club Names Officers, Gerontology Subject Of Clinic

The Escanaba Woman's Club re-elected Mrs. John Anthony, president, and an attendant slate of officers for the coming year and conducted an intensely interesting and informative clinic on gerontology at its meeting yesterday afternoon in Westminster Hall of the First Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. James R. Fitzharris was named first vice president; Mrs. John Ott, second vice president; Mrs. Ralph Sogard, recording secretary; Mrs. E. R. Bornman, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Leeland Garrard, treasurer; and Mrs. James Degnan, director for two years.

Mrs. E. H. Niederauer was program chairman. Mrs. T. M. Cassidy, local chairman of the gerontology and Mrs. John J. Walch, Michigan State Gerontology chairman, were coordinators of the program.

Mrs. Walch, principal speaker, in her introduction, spoke of the 20th century's gift of 20 extra years in the life span and emphasized that whether this gift is a blessing or a curse is entirely dependent on the individual's preparation for the use of it.

She elaborated on the pioneering record of women and women's organizations stating that in the present day "it is only natural that they would champion the cause of the senior citizens and their problems." Functions of the club in this direction she outlined as assisting individual members in preparing for successful retirement, alerting the community and assisting in community projects, the most important at present, the adult education program, the creative activities demonstration for the public planned for this coming fall and the Adult Education Institute to be held at Marquette.

A New Field

She stressed the fact that recognition of gerontology with the work of its committees is an entirely new field and expressed appreciation of the assistance given by various individuals and agencies in the development of the program.

She touched briefly on individual future activities and in closing admonished, "Let us begin today to enjoy tomorrow."

Concise reports on the work of the year were given by Mrs. John Luecke who told of organization, Mrs. H. J. Niver spoke on the excellent facilities for learning on the subject now available, Mrs. James Degnan who reported on concrete accomplishments and Mrs. Ralph Sogard who spoke on the future from the standpoint of the individual and the community.

Vernon Ihlenfeldt, director of Adult Education, spoke of the success of the new course, "Choosing Your Second Career" which will be repeated this coming year, and urged continued support of the Adult Education program. A film "Life With Grandpa", from the University of Michigan Extension Service, followed and the program closed with the reading of "Prayer for the Aged" by Mrs. William Sheppard.

Convention Delegates

Mrs. Fred I. Carlson played a group of piano selections during the tea hour. A spring arrangement of daisies and yellow tapers formed the decorative theme. Mrs. Niederauer and Mrs. Anthony poured.

At the business session Mrs. Fitzharris was named delegate and Mrs. Anthony, alternate, to the State Federation convention to be held at Kellogg Center in East Lansing April 15-17. Mrs. N. L. Lindquist, a past president, and Mrs. Walch, also will attend. A report on the Karsas Memorial concert ticket promotion was given by Mrs. George Marcouiller and Mrs. Henry Bathye gave the nominating committee's report. Tellers were Mrs. M. D. Perring and Mrs. Joseph S. Dickson. The devotionals opening the meeting were given by Mrs. Henry Wyly.

Bridge Featured In Daily Cartoon

The Manistique River bridge here, reputed to be the only siphon type structure in the United States, is the second local scenic attraction to be featured in "Strange As It Seems," a daily cartoon feature by Elsie Hix, of Hollywood.

The feature carrying the pen sketch and descriptive data on the bridge appeared March 16 and was published in numerous smaller newspapers in the nation. No newspapers in this area carry the Hix cartoon.

The drawing showed the bridge and the city water tower in the background.

Several months ago a pen sketch of the old tramp statue at Hovey's, Indian Lake, appeared in the Hix feature.

Information on both items was furnished Elsie Hix by Fred D. Heltman, secretary of the Top O' Lake Michigan Chamber of Commerce.

A peculiar feature of the Manistique River bridge is that the river water is utilized to help support the span. The surface of US-2 crossing the bridge is lower than the water level in the stream.

Robert Fisher Dies In Everett; Hold Rites Here

Robert Fisher, 58, a brother of Mrs. Carl Lind, 109 N. First St., died yesterday morning in Everett, Mich., where he had resided since last November. Death was caused by a heart attack.

He was born in East Tawas but had spent the greater part of his life in Detroit where for a number of years he engaged in business. He spent a year here with his sister and last November went into business in Everett in partnership with C. W. Jackson, former Manistique resident.

He was married about 30 years ago to the former Lena Warner, of Engadine, who survives.

Survivors besides his wife are a brother, John Fisher, Detroit, and five sisters, Mrs. Lind; Mrs. Winnie Bunk, Saginaw; Mrs. Katherine Noah and Mrs. Bessie Wegenor, Detroit; and Mrs. Viola McCarney, Flint.

Services were held at 1 p.m. today in Everett and local funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday at the Kefauver and Jackson Funeral Home. The body will be placed in Lakewood vault and will be buried in the spring in Fairview cemetery.

COOLED BY EVAPORATION
An electric fan does not actually cool the air, but sets it in motion and, as the moving air passes across one's body, it increases evaporation from the skin, which causes a sensation of coolness.

The third in a series of six Scout leader training courses will be held Friday evening at the Presbyterian Church, beginning at 7:30.

Andrew Houston, of Escanaba, Red Buck executive, will be in charge.

Cancer Chapter Is Reorganized

Reorganization of the Schoolcraft County Chapter of the American Cancer Society was recently completed at meeting in Lakeside school.

New officers are Mrs. William Hood, president; Mrs. Frank Arrowood, vice commander; Mrs. Clarence Peterson, secretary, and Roy E. Anderson, treasurer.

Committee chairmen follow: Mrs. Carl Olson, education; Mrs. Vilas Young, publicity; Mrs. E. S. Johnson, organization; Mrs. J. Joseph Herbert, service; Mrs. Don Hastings, dressings; Carl Carlson, 1953 campaign chairman; and J. Mauritz Carlson, loan fund.

The board of directors consists of Miss Pansy Carstensen, head nurse at the Schooletcraft Memorial Hospital; Mrs. Carl Carlson, nurse; Dr. Milton Keteik, dentist; Mrs. Arnold Hemrichsen, RFD sewing chairman; and William L. Norton, Escanaba Daily Press.

Still to be filled is the office of commander.

The annual campaign for funds will open April 1 and continue for a month under the direction of Carl Carlson.

It was announced yesterday that an institutional grant of $20,000 has been made by the American Cancer Society to the University of Michigan. This is one of the many places where research funds are used in the state in the fight against cancer, it is pointed out.

Gerou Jailed On Assault Charge

Albert Gerou, of Manistique, recently released from Circuit Court probation and currently on probation from Manistique justice court, was in jail yesterday awaiting Circuit Court arraignment on a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than the crime of murder.

Gerou was arrested by state police on complaint of his wife, Agnes, who alleged that he beat her so severely Sunday evening that she required medical treatment.

He waived examination at his arraignment in justice court and was bound over to Circuit Court on $2,000 bonds which he was unable to post.

Gerou was released about two months ago from Circuit Court probation for taking a car without the owner's consent.

Several weeks ago he was arrested and arraigned in justice court on a non-support charge, and was placed on probation for six months.

New Editions Of Classics Arrive At Library Here

Several new editions of the classics have been received at the Manistique public library, it is announced.

They are colorful in binding, large in print and gaily illustrated, and are especially recommended for adults and high school students.

Some of the new selections include the following: Ivanhoe, Oliver Twist, Lorna Doone, Jane Eyre, Pride and Prejudice, Short Stories by Poe, A Tale of Two Cities, Moby Dick, Les Misérables, Silas Marner, Wuthering Heights and David Copperfield.

Band Boosters Will Buy Horn

The Band Boosters club voted to purchase another bass horn for the Gladstone High school band at a regular meeting Tuesday evening.

It also went on record to sponsor another bake sale as a fund raising venture and the date was later set for Saturday April 25.

Assistance in the instrument purchasing project of the club was given recently by the two Gladstone banks, each of which contributed $100 to the cause, and by the Chamber of Commerce which gave $25.

After the business meeting a pleasing musical program was presented by a group of high school students.

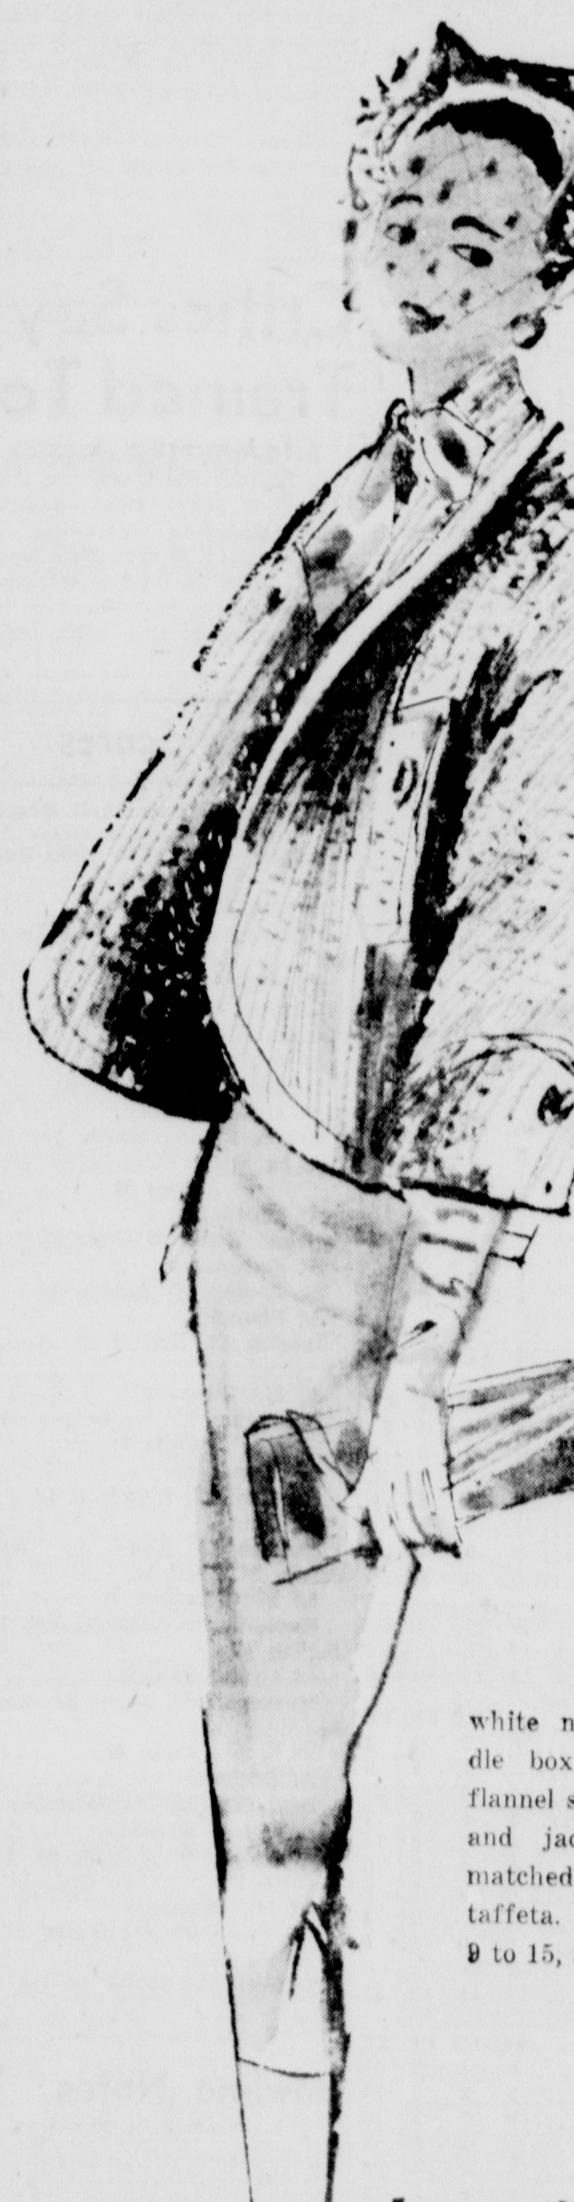

Lunch was served in the home making room by Mrs. John Lash and Mrs. Rex Stowe.

Trojans In Semi-Finals; Manistique Is Beaten

St. Joseph Defeats East Jordan, 65-47

By RAY CRANDALL

(Escanaba Press Sports Editor)

MT. PLEASANT—The St. Joseph Trojans of Escanaba swept into the semi-finals of the state Class C basketball championships here last night with an easy 65-47 victory over East Jordan before a crowd of 4200 fans in the Central Michigan College gymnasium, but two other Upper Peninsula contenders, Manistique in Class B and Gwinn in Class D, bowed out of the tournament competition.

The Trojans move on to Lansing tomorrow to play Muskegon St. Mary's in a semi-final game at Lansing Boys Vocational School at 9 Friday night.

Manistique lost to Ludington, 60 to 49, and Gwinn was eliminated by Ellsworth, 64 to 52. It was the first defeat of the season for the Manistique Emeralds after achieving a 19-game winning streak.

The Trojans, always slow in getting their offensive in high gear, sputtered in the first period and found themselves on the short end of a 15-9 score at the end of the opening frame. The Trojans scored the first basket of the game and led again at 5-4 but the East Jordan team moved out in front at that point and were in command of the play for the remainder of the period.

The Escanaba team began to move at a faster pace in the second period during which they outscored East Jordan, 30 to 15. Dick Cass tied the score for St. Joseph at 20-20 on a free throw midway in the period and later put the Trojans ahead, 25-24, on a tip-in shot. The Trojans were never headed after that.

Cass, Martinac and Gravelle led the Trojan scoring during the torrid third period, scoring 26 of the 30 points accumulated in that period.

East Jordan maintained a threatening position in the third period during which the Trojans played cautiously. The third period score was 47-39.

The East Jordan hopes were sunk early in the final period when the Trojans applied the pressure once more. Gravelle's marvellous rebound work was a feature of the play in this period and gave possession of the ball to the Trojans during much of the period.

Charles Wagner and Harry Ledene of Chicago were only three points off the lead in doubles as they shot 1332. Ledene bowled 667, Wagner 665, Ronald Maczen and Leo Rollick of Seattle eased into fourth place with 1316.

In the all-events Dick Hoover of Akron, O., hit 1934 to tie for sixth place.

Emeralds Bow To Ludington; Gwinn Beaten

By RAY CRANDALL

(Daily Press Sports Editor)

MT. PLEASANT—The Manistique Emeralds, highest scoring team in the Upper Peninsula, were as cold as an Arctic wave last night and dropped out of the state Class C championship basketball tournament by absorbing a 60-49 defeat from Coach Joe Kowatch's Ludington High School cagers.

Gwinn, Class D champion of the Upper Peninsula, also lost its bid for state honors by losing to Ellsworth, 64-52.

The Emeralds, with 19 consecutive victories and no defeats behind them, just couldn't get going against the Ludington team. The high scoring Manistique cagers could find the range consistently.

Ludington broke to a 6-0 lead at the outset of the game and still held a 15-10 advantage at the end of the period.

Emeralds Tie Score

Manistique fans had their first real chance to cheer when the Emeralds staged a second period rally which tied the score at 17-all on Warren Wilson's lay-in shot. The score was tied again at 18-all but Ludington pulled out in front again toward the end of the period and the Manistique team found itself on the shortend of a 31-23 score at half time.

The game blew up for the Emeralds in the third period. Lee Schoenherr of Ludington dropped in a series of shots from the corners and the Emeralds could not keep pace. The Manistique team scored only five points in that period, their lowest scoring period of the entire season. In this frame Ludington played careful ball, controlling possession of the ball much of the time.

The Manistique team put on its best performance in the final period, scoring 21 points, but it was futile as Ludington at one time held a 19 point lead midway in the period.

Tall Center

Even Detroit St. Andrew, defending Class B champion, came to the end of the glory road—a victim of a crushing 57-33 defeat by Inkster.

But Highland Park, shooting sharply and playing superbly, surged into Friday night's semi-finals with a 70-62 victory over East Detroit.

Instead of getting a rest, though, the Parkers run smack into their stiffest opposition of the season—the power-packed, unbeaten quintet from Lansing Sexton.

Sexton, taking dead aim on the Class A title, rolled ahead by whipping Bay City Central, 56-46, for its 19th victory of the season.

This big game, scheduled for Michigan State College's Jenison Field House at 9:30 p.m., Friday, is a natural. It pits the champion and the challenger.

Quarter-Finals Wild

Inkster will play St. Joseph in the Field House at 5:00 p.m.

The quarter-finals were wild, indeed, with St. Andrew losing its second game in 71 starts and two all-winning records brought to an end.

Remus (23-0) and Manistique (19-0) both brought perfect records into last night's action. But they could have left them home for all the good it did them. Both streaks were snapped—and snapped abruptly.

Remus (Class C) fell before powerful Muskegon St. Mary, 53-45, while Manistique Class B, which had been averaging 72.2 points a game, was stopped by Ludington, 64-49.

Muskegon St. Mary and Ludington will have to be watched in the semi-finals. St. Mary has a sound team with good overall strength while Ludington's chief asset is its height.

Escanaba Hawks Play Calumet In Hockey Playoff Game Here Tonight

Al's, Harnies Play Tonight

Al's Tavern and Harnischfeger will play the feature game in a City League tripleheader tonight at the Junior High gym at nine o'clock.

Hawk officials said this morning that tonight's game will be played regardless of ice conditions. It was pointed out that there is a heavy layer of ice on the rink, assuring adequate skating even if the ice is soft.

The opening game of the playoff series at Calumet Tuesday night which the Raiders won, 7 to 4, was played on soft ice before a capacity crowd. It is possible that remaining games of the series, after tonight's contest, may be shifted to Marquette which has artificial ice on the Palestra rink.

The Hawks are eager to even the series with the Raiders tonight and feel that they have a better than even chance of doing it on their home ice. The Raiders, however, have always been exceptionally tough for the Hawks, whether at Escanaba or Calumet.

Coach Mark Olson said this morning that the Hawks feel they have to win this one to stay in contention in the playoff series. The championship will be decided on the best tire out of five series and with the Hawks already one game down, a defeat tonight would put them in the unfavorable situation of being forced to win all three remaining games to cop the title.

The game blew up for the Emeralds in the third period. Lee Schoenherr of Ludington dropped in a series of shots from the corners and the Emeralds could not keep pace. The Manistique team scored only five points in that period, their lowest scoring period of the entire season. In this frame Ludington played careful ball, controlling possession of the ball much of the time.

The Manistique team put on its best performance in the final period, scoring 21 points, but it was futile as Ludington at one time held a 19 point lead midway in the period.

Navajos Appeasing Gods As White Men Search For Uranium

By BILL RICHARDSON
GALLUP, N. M. (UPI)—The old gods are talking in the mountains. To them and their people, the Navajo, have come the white men searching for uranium—the metal of war.

And while blasts from atomic explosions light up Nevada skies, the fearful Navajo are preparing to appease the gods from whose mountain homes the war-metal was torn.

Navajo nature gods provide for their people. But the things of nature must not be wasted. And they must be taken with the proper courteous ceremonies of thanks.

They have scheduled a "blessing way" or "hozhojii," one of the most sacred of Navajo ceremonies to placate the aroused spirits.

Like most Indian ceremonies, it won't be held by the white man's calendar. When the moon is full, the blue Lukachukai peaks will hear the all-night chants of the pentent Navajo.

The Lukachukai are only one range of numerous sacred peaks scattered over what once was Navajo hunting ground in Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona.

In the sacred Lukachukai Mountains of Eastern Arizona, the Navajo heard the disturbed voice of the Ye-Ei, the souls of the living mountains.

Professor Claims Career As Clown

IMPERIA, Italy (UPI)—A former Latin professor claims to be one of the oldest active clowns in the world. Although 73, Adriano Wet-tach doesn't feel like an old man yet and has no thoughts of retiring.

Making people laugh for the past half century has kept him young, he claims. "My folks wanted me to be a watchmaker," said the clown, known professionally as Grock.

Born in Reconville in the Swiss Bernese mountains, Grock has played before most of the crowned heads of Europe. He counted among his friends such monarchs as Czar Nicholas of Russia, William II, Albert and Leopold of Belgium and George V of England.

In 1950 the proportion of the U. S. population at age 65 and over was 8.2 per cent.
